

Illuminations of Light LIVE! Presents....Sierra Neblina! Topic “Braided Souls & Walk-Ins”

January 4, 2011 by godluvsthisangel2

Greetings and Salutations One and All! I do hope this blog finds you all healthy and rested after a very powerful holiday season! Lots going on right now in the world and it's been a doozy for most of us riding this wave of change! This week's solar eclipse completed the cycle of moving energies of the lunar eclipse (subconscious) to shining it onto the sun aspect (consciousness) so we as a whole should be gaining. We will continue the process of purging which will feel like a surreal form of emotional vomiting in waves uncontrollable thoughts which may not be what you are truly feeling or flashes from childhood memories which you may or may not have already dealt with, this is not you losing your mind this is the energies we are currently transmuting as these eclipses and the energies they bring help us through this process. I will be doing several energy alerts in the coming weeks so be watching for that. Sierra will be talking about the planetary alignments in this time frame right now.

Now onto today's show....Miss Sierra Neblina will be joining us for tonight's show. To find out more about our guest, visit our guest page Here

Tonight we are in Part II of our interview with Sierra, discussing her current experience as a Braided Walk-In. This topic is not something that you will find in the everyday mainstream of walk ins. They have not done this in such mass in thousands of Aeons. In fact when I first encountered a braided soul, I was not sure what I was seeing energetically. I could explain it, but was told that it was not physically possible to hold two souls in one body. The first time I encountered this was through a personal friend. Who was raised in Alabama in a strict Jehovah's Witness home. She was the victim of severe sexual abuse from her family members and had other psychological issues as a result of those incidents in her life and she was working on overcoming the trauma of it when we met. Several years into her recovery she came to me and during one of my teaching sessions, a voice which was not her own came through to introduce himself as Otowal, a being from another dimension which resided within my friend's body. Now when I scanned this energetically what I saw was two distinctly different energy signatures inhabiting the same body and genetic structure but with their own unique signatures and personalities. I conversed with this being on several occasions since that initial introduction, while I searched to find out more on this topic. As the weeks passed, I began to note an integration process which she was undergoing. I was not sure initially if this was a possession, a split personality which can mimic similarly these signatures, or something which I had never seen before. I continued to explore this person all the way through to total integration. This is not the same as a walk in integration nor an overself merge, this was a totally unique situation. I was told by this other being with my friend that they have been together since birth but the time for him to take over was at hand and that he had memory like being awake and that my friend was fighting this integration greatly and that he enjoyed my teachings very much that I was more on track than I understood. So imagine my surprise when Sierra was telling me that she too was a braided soul. She actually gave me the name of what I had seen within my friend. I was covered in chills from head to toe when she said that and yipped out in glee! I had not been losing my mind this is actually there! whoot! I was thrilled to say the least, lol. So I did some further research which explained basically about braided souls.

What I found was that there is VERY little information out there on this topic. It is so old that its new again~ and thus why I am excited to be among the few who have the opportunity to share with you some of my personal experience with this and another who is currently undergoing her integration processing. The basic idea for the braided soul is efficiency mainly. Two souls are better than one in terms of bringing in needed information for the current changes and to assist the one who is doing this to accelerate in soul expansion more quickly.

Again, when you read a braided soul, there are two very distinctly different energy signatures. But if you were to scan them you would see they are wrapped like a helix or inner spiral within the spiral and they are inseparable. They occupy the same space. Now there are many who would not believe this, as it's been said it's not possible, whoever is saying this really limits what the Creator can accomplish in this time of now. They actually used to come in braided on a far more regular basis when the Earth was new, but only for this time change has the practice become more prevalent.

How to tell when you are reading a braided soul:

1. Split personality disorder / schizophrenia- This will show energetically as a short or chemical imbalance on the physical levels. You can watch as thoughts morph like a shape-shifter almost before your eyes but nothing stays solid, you will see the personalities and experiences change as the person speaks to you but the energy signature of that person never changes.

2. Possession- Possession is very distinct, you will see a dark energy, a heavy energy, constricting almost wrapped about the persona and throughout their physical beings and usually will see the soul imprisoned or bound energetically in some fashion.

3. Walk-Ins- Standard- Two souls agree that they will "switch out" at some point on the life span timeline, they create a trauma or illness to facilitate this process in the physical. In this manner, there is one in the driver's seat and one that hangs out in the auric field basically the back seat of the human vehicle and they integrate that way this is not the same as a braided soul.

4. Merging of High Self to Overself- Again this is only one energy signature.

5. Braided Souls- Two individually different souls sharing the same space. You see two distinct signatures intertwined together.

Braided souls stay together and share experiences together from birth. When the awakening period arrives, most times the prevalent soul has no idea they are braided with another soul. This comes as a huge shock and there is a period often times of disbelief that this is happening, that they are losing their minds or becoming skitz. They have no clue as to what is transpiring and the integration period when both steer the ship together can take a lifetime for some. It is one of the most challenging scenarios a soul can choose here in the school of life.

From a healer's perspective there are meditations which can be done to assist the process along, there are also crystals which will work fairly well with this on a physical level, intuitively I get rainbow obsidian will help greatly and possibly a nice rhododite or moonstone.

I am hoping to get a lot of questions tonight from you guys about this topic! It's truly a fascinating subject to me, most will have some difficulty wrapping their heads around it, you can always Google braided souls and see the few articles which appear, they are a bit different perspective but basically state the same stuff.

I want to thank you all for stopping in and we hope to see you tonight!
